AIIC students also participated in international competitions and assessments for schools (ICAS). It is commendable as several students scored High Distinctions, Merits and Credits in English, Maths, Science, Spelling, Computer skills and Writing.
ICAS PERFORMANCE

The participation in ICAS is by choice of parents who find the ICAS assessment charges in advance. Hence not everyone sits for ICAS tests. In 2014 maximum number of students (61) participated in Mathematics Competition and only 30 students participated in Spelling. In general performance in Mathematics reflects better understanding of students’ performance while other subject like Spelling, Writing, English, Computer Skills and Science may be affected due to poor English ability of students. The following table shows the outcome of ICAS tests in 2014.

Year 12 school leavers performance are always noticed by all parents of students enrolled at AIIC. Seeing almost all students who had hoped to undertake tertiary study ended up with an offer by QTAC which is very encouraging. The performance of year 12 is a direct result of teaching staff that have been walking an extra mile throughout the year 2014 providing extra tutorial, extra assistance after school hours and in weekends. Majority of year 12 staff made themselves available to be directly contacted by students through phone and email address. The extra care and efforts made by staff is highly appreciated by all stakeholders of the AIIC.

The most valuable interaction between parents and teachers take place when they spend time together discussing student performance during the interview. Teachers show parents their children’s portfolio of work. Teachers inform parents their children’s potential talent in various sector of schooling including drama, debating, sporting and nasheed (singing).

Majority of parents look forward to receiving students report card at the end of term 2 and 4. Many parents visit classrooms of their child during open day and see their child work on display.

A small number of parents attend the daily assembly to learn what is happening in the College and also become aware of all activities planned for the week.

A few parents volunteer their services as teacher aide and for other volunteer work.
