WELCOME BACK

A very warm welcome to you all, both new and returning families to a new academic year 2016. With each year comes new developments, new ideas, new initiatives and new findings. This year we are very happy to announce that our new prep and library building is ready here at the Durack Campus.

The facilities offers a comfortable and very conducive early years learning environment for our students. The small class sizes will enable us to ensure quality education to our students in their foundation phase of learning. We still have a few spaces for enrolment, so please get in early to secure your child's place.

The past year has been a very successful one. Please visit our college website, www.aiic.qld.edu.au for all our achievements, including the very promising outcomes of our year 12 students.

Our teachers and staff will continue to focus on academic success and parent communication to provide our students with the best opportunities to excel in a safe, supportive and positive learning environment.

I will be visiting classrooms to assist students and to support teachers in their attempts.

Our College Motto: Excellence in Education, Character and Service will be emphasised and students will be given every opportunity to work towards this.

Teachers have focussed on their expectations and have highlighted student responsibility.

Student behaviour, attitude and engagement in their studies will be handled very firmly, but fairly following the behaviour management policy.

I have the honour and pleasure of continuing as your principal and I look forward to leading our college and its community as we explore ways to continue our improvement process to make us one of the best schools.

InshaAllah I hope for another successful school year as our journey continues.

Mariam Banwa
Principal

Queensland Police Update

For your information, below is the latest Update from the Queensland Police issued this morning 3/2/16). It confirms that several school have received calls today and there is a likelihood that they could continue for several days.

Update 2: Threatening phone calls, Queensland Schools

The Queensland Police Service is aware of several Queensland schools receiving threatening phone calls today.

Several schools across Queensland received similar calls yesterday and police conducted extensive inquiries in relation to these calls.

We are confident that the calls yesterday came from overseas, and were designed to cause significant disruption and media coverage. At this time, there is no credible evidence the threats could be carried out here.

Whilst the calls today have just begun and will be fully investigated by police, it is believed they are of a similar nature and pattern as yesterday and most probably originate from the same source.

The Queensland Police Service continues to work closely with Education Queensland to ensure the safety of all school children across the state.

A number of schools in other states and countries have received similar phone calls in the past week. The threatening calls to interstate schools occurred over several days.

Investigations into the threatening phone calls are continuing, but at this time there is no cause for alarm.

Police would like to remind the public that making threatening phone calls is a serious criminal offence, and these incidents will be fully investigated.
